WHAT MAKES A MT. BACHELOR SKI VACATION DIFFERENT

A very big, very serious ski 360-degree sleeping volcano. A very, very cool town. Going up? There are seven high-speed lifts. Going down? There's 3365' vertical, and huge snowfall. Uniquely among major North American ski destinations, Mt. Bachelor doesn't offer on-mountain lodging, and odds are that it never will. The ski area is located entirely on National Forest land. So strict are the forest management guidelines that Mt. Bachelor is required to obtain permission from the Forest Service if it wishes to cut a tree leaning into a trail. "We're surrounded by two million acres of protected land, not 20,000 condos," -If Mt. Bachelor lacks slopeside lodging, which some skiers perceive as an essential element of a modern ski vacation, why do so many others cheerfully ski Mt. Bachelor anyway? Answer: the experience has a unique vibe, and a lot of that vibe has to do with the town of Bend, about 18 miles to the east of the mountain. Bend is home to outstanding arts and music, fine hotels and restaurants and more craft breweries per capita than anywhere else in the nation.

WHY TRAVEL TUESDAY TO TUESDAY?

To avoid flying into Portland and a 4 hour bus ride, we will fly directly into Redmond, a short 30 minutes to Bend. Redmond is a small airport, and due to airline issues, flights on Tuesday we half the cost as flights on other days.

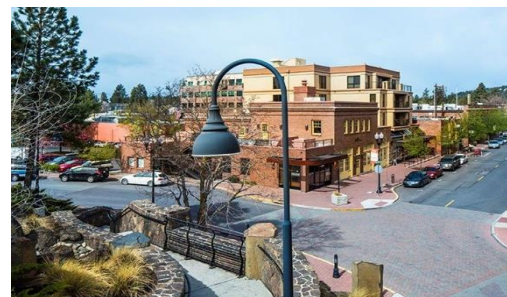

Standard package includes:

- 7 Nights, Tuesday to Tuesday at Doubletree Hotel in Bend, OR
- 5 Day lift ticket
- Round trip air from Pittsburgh to Redmond Airport
 - Tentative Flight Schedule:
 - 28FEB UA 773 PIT/DEN 833A/1021A
 - 28FEB UA5717 DEN/RDM 1115A/1250P
